

Friday 19th April 2024

Dear Parents and Carers,

It has certainly been a rather extraordinary start to the term arriving on Monday to find we had no water or gas in the kitchen and no internet anywhere but the main office. Once again, thank you to you all for ensuring that we didn't have to close by bringing packed lunches in. I am pleased to say that with a few phone calls we had an army of engineers and the head of property services from the local authority onsite promptly to rectify the issues.

As I am sure you can't help but have noticed, we are having some planned works carried out in our plant room which includes having two new boilers installed. On inspection it was decided to remove some asbestos from the plant room first which was started in the holidays but unfortunately has eaten into this week as well. This has been carried out by a professional company who deal solely with this type of work and is completely safe to be carried out whilst everyone is on site. We are very lucky to be having the majority of this cost funded by our local authority.

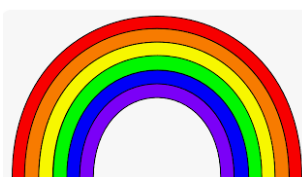

We continue to have chicken pox across the school. I know that some of our children have hardly felt ill at all and others have been really quite poorly. Please continue to be vigilant and keep your child off until the last spot has scabbed over.

Despite the absence during this first week back I received a report published by the LA which shows that our attendance is exemplary in our authority and we could well be used as an example for other schools struggling. This certainly is a combined effort between school, parents and our children so thank you and well done to all of us!

Our Key Stage Two children thoroughly enjoyed their visit from 'The History Man' on Monday and enjoyed a fact and fun packed day with lots of resources and artefacts for them to explore, try on and even taste for some! The children have learnt a great deal about their new topic 'The Maya's' and it certainly was a 'Stunning Start' which they will always remember.

Have a lovely weekend,

Mrs. C. Jenkins
